Executive Summary

In May 2025, the STAND UP Consortium under the leadership of HERMES (Croatian Education and Development Network for the Evolution of Communication) organized a series of two online teacher seminars with participants from Croatia, Germany, Bosnia and Herzegovina, Serbia, Hungary and Slovenia. Initially envisioned as a single seminar, the online event had to be broken up into two separate online seminars due to the high number of applicants.

The objectives of the online seminar were to introduce the participants to the United States Holocaust Memorial Museum's Oral History Archive, and to teach them how to search the archive using keywords and geographical markers for their respective localities of interest. We also wanted to gauge teachers' interest and thoughts on which particular themes, stories or focus areas should we seek out from the archival testimonies, in the second stage of the project when teachers themselves will create lesson plans around specific testimonies.

The seminars were highly successful, attracting a total of 113 participants on the first day and 93 participants on the second day of the event. While the majority of participants came from the targeted project countries (Bosnia and Herzegovina = 50, Croatia = 51, Germany = 13, Hungary = 9, Serbia = 47, Slovenia = 27), we had 9 participants from other countries as well (Italy, Finland, Kosovo, Albania, North Macedonia, etc.), joining us for the seminars.

The seminars resulted in participants reviewing existing USHMM Archive testimonies from their respective countries, and creating a shortlist of 60+ testimonies that could be used for classroom-based lessons with high school students. This allowed STAND UP project partners to further investigate the suggested testimonies, and narrow down the final list of testimonies that will inspire future STAND UP lesson plans, to ~ 25.

Finally, given the exceptionally high interest in the STAND UP project, the online seminars also helped us with the finalisation of the participant selection process, for the attendance of in-person seminars that will take place later in the project, in Serbia (October 2025), Hungary (October 2025), Slovenia (November 2025) and Germany (January 2026).

Background Information

The STAND UP project was envisioned to begin with a consultative process with educators and teachers. An online seminar was planned for 100+ educators during which we planned to present the USHMM Oral History archive, and show educators how to search it using specific parameters and keywords.

An important part of the online seminars was also organizing a group brainstorm in national breakout rooms, identifying key Holocaust- and remembrance-related themes that educators should focus on when searching the archive, in order to identify key video excerpts. Following the online seminar, HERMES editors will cut the video excerpts, following the instructions from educators, making sure that the video excerpts are classroom-use friendly, in length and content.

Objectives of the online seminars:

- Introduce USHMM Oral History Archive to 100+ educators in an online seminar;
- Equip teachers and educators to search the archive, using specific keywords;
- Agree on central educational and remembrance themes to focus on in each of the project countries;
- Inspire educators to familiarize themselves with the archive and to send HERMES editors instructions on which videos to edit;
- HERMES editors edit series of video excerpts, for later use in the project (for creation of lesson/classroom activity plans).

Online Seminar Agenda & Flow

Each seminar started with partner organisations' introductions, and opening statement by the seminar facilitator - President of the Croatian Education and Development Network for the Evolution of Communication HERMES, Mr. Tvrtko Pater.

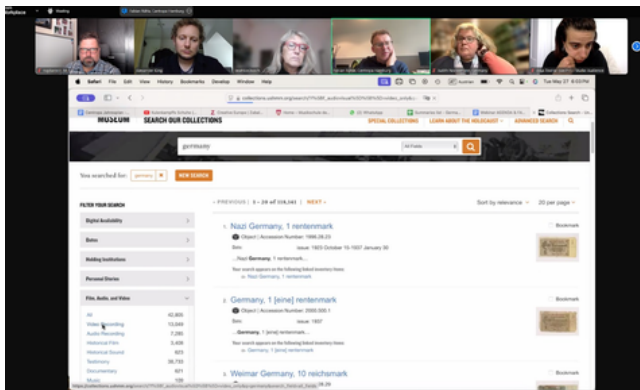

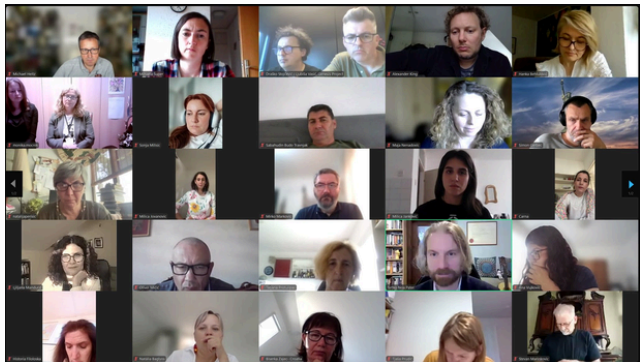

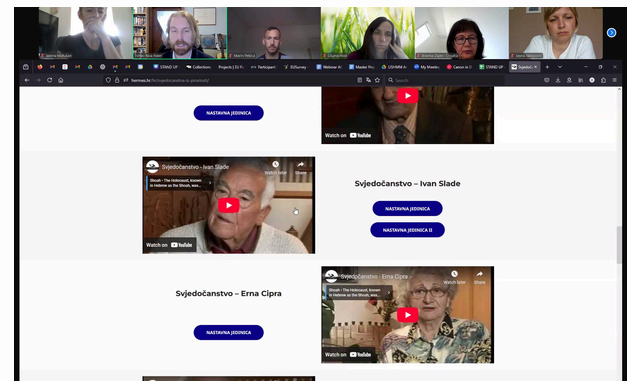

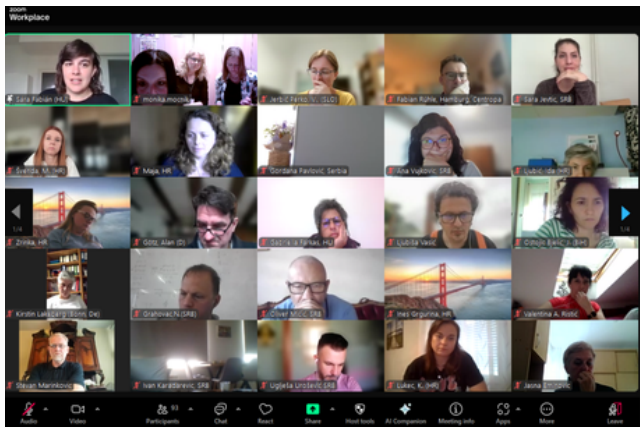

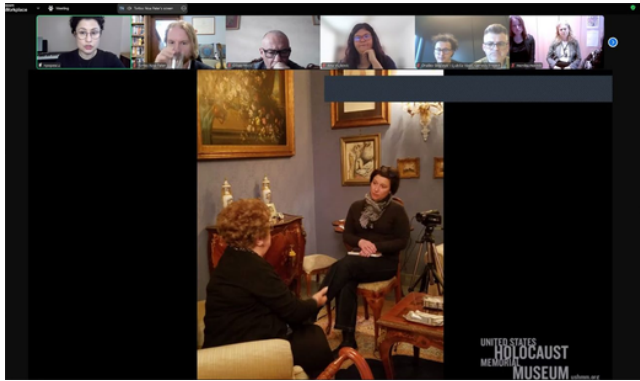

Then, we were joined by Ms. Noemi Szekely Popescu from the United States Holocaust Memorial Museum's Oral History Archive, who presented the archive website, and also shared a few testimonies as well as the stories behind their acquisition.

The most significant part of the webinar was a 45-minutes long breakout room session, whereby all participants went to their national breakout rooms, where each partner organisation acted as a host. The main task during these breakout sessions was to go through the testimonies by witnesses and survivors from their respective countries, to familiarize themselves with the scope and the themes, as well as geographies covered by the archive's materials. Subsequently, they then had group discussion on which key Holocaust themes, events or concepts were underexplored or not well known in their respective national contexts, so that we could identify testimonies that could help us teach about these particular stories and events.

Back in plenary, each national group presented their respective key themes and focus topics they wished to focus on, from the USHMM Archive. The seminar facilitator thanked everyone for their participation, and announced the next steps of the educational project.

As the final step of the webinar, participants received a link to the official EU Survey that they were meant to fill out, giving their impressions of the event along with some wider reflections.

Evaluation

Based on the EU Survey completed after the seminars, the overall assessment of the event averaged an impressive 4.82 out of 5.

Participants also reported significant personal and professional growth as a result of their participation. Specifically, the seminar contributed to increased awareness (4.68/5), improved knowledge (4.68/5), and enhanced skills (4.49/5) among respondents. Importantly, the seminar also strengthened collaboration and connections among educators, with the Cooperation score averaging 4.74/5. The distribution of responses shows that the vast majority of participants rated cooperation at the highest level, underlining the event's success in fostering a sense of community and shared purpose across borders.

Here are some of the open comments and reflections on the online seminars:

- "Everyone was very interested and full of enthusiasm. There wasn't much time for conversation, which is understandable given the number of participants."
- "It was a very interesting training opportunity. I learned new things and I will use them soon."
- "Everything was excellent. Interesting topics for discussion with the students."
- "I was of course familiar with the topic, but I learned today how to work in a different way. I learned about the existence of the Archive today, and definitely plan to use it."
- "This online seminar was a high-quality professional development opportunity for teachers and educators, because it enabled me to access new historical sources that I intend to use in my classroom and teaching."
- "It was a wonderful opportunity to engage with Central European and Balkan countries' educators, about the topic of the Holocaust. While engaging in Holocaust education, we haven't sufficiently paid attention to bystander testimonies, and this seminar drew my attention to this."

Conclusion

The online webinars successfully launched the STAND UP educational program. We were thrilled to see exceptionally high interest from educators across the participating countries, reflecting a strong commitment to Holocaust and human rights education.

The participants brought remarkable motivation, curiosity, and openness, which greatly enriched the discussions and set a collaborative tone for the program. Their level of engagement confirmed the relevance and urgency of the project's goals, especially in today's climate of rising intolerance and historical distortion.

This strong beginning has provided us with a dedicated group of educators who are eager to explore and apply the oral history testimonies in their teaching. We are excited to continue building on this momentum in the next phases of the project.

CALL FOR PARTICIPANTS

Call for Applications: Standing up for Remembrance: Testimonies from the Past as Lessons for the Present - Holocaust and Human Rights Education through Oral History (STAND UP)

Educational Program for Teachers & Educators

BACKGROUND

As we approach the 80th anniversary of the end of the Second World War, the lessons of that era remain as important as ever. In a time marked by rising intolerance and historical distortion, education plays a critical role in preserving the memory of the Holocaust and fostering democratic values. The "STAND UP" project invites educators to engage with authentic testimonies and bring these powerful stories into their classrooms.

"STAND UP" is the result of cooperation between Croatian Education and Development Network for the Evolution of Communication - HERMES (Croatia), CENTROPA (Germany), GENESIS (Bosnia-Herzegovina), Holocaust Center Šabac (Serbia), National Museum of Contemporary History (Slovenia), Subjective Values Foundation (Hungary) and the United States Holocaust Memorial Museum (USHMM), realized through the generous support of the European Union's Citizens, Equality, Rights and Values (CERV) programme.

The United States Holocaust Memorial Museum's Jeff and Toby Herr Oral History Archive is one of the largest and most diverse collections of Holocaust testimonies in the world. The collection contains testimonies from liberators, collaborators, witnesses, and rescuers. The documented oral testimonies of Holocaust survivors from Central and Eastern Europe are currently not widely used in the current teaching about the Holocaust. Therefore, this project aims to create educational materials centered around the oral testimonies gathered by the USHMM from World War II witnesses and Holocaust survivors from Bosnia-Herzegovina, Croatia, Germany, Hungary, Serbia and Slovenia.

ABOUT THE EDUCATIONAL PROGRAM

Over the course of the educational program, the selected professors, teachers, educators from Bosnia-Herzegovina, Croatia, Germany, Hungary, Serbia and Slovenia will get familiarized with the USHMM Oral History archives. They will select the individual testimonies and/or topics from the Oral History archive, around which they will then develop classroom-based activities and lesson plans. In the end, the participants will be expected to organize educational activities, using the newly developed content based on the testimonies from the USHMM Oral Archives.

INVITATION

We hereby invite history teachers, educators, non-formal education specialists in historical and/or human rights education, as well as interested teachers from other disciplines (civic education, sociology, psychology, literature, etc.) to apply for this educational programme which will last from late May 2025 until spring 2026, which consists of the following three distinct phases:

1. Attending a 2-hours long online seminar, on either May 27 or May 28, 2025, between 17:00 - 19:00 CET.
2. Attending one in-person training seminar (arrivals on Friday morning, departures on Sunday afternoon) which will take place in 4 countries - Germany, Hungary, Serbia and Slovenia. (September '25 - January '26 - you will be able to signal preference for dates/locations);
3. Classroom-based dissemination of the activity plans you will develop during the in-person training seminars. (spring 2026)

Teachers and educators are at the forefront of shaping how future generations understand and act upon the lessons of the past. By participating in "STAND UP," you will help ensure that the voices of World War II remembrance continue to educate, inspire, and stand as a warning against hatred and indifference.

HOW TO APPLY

Please fill out this application form (deadline: May 20, 2025 at 14:00)
